

Foundation Certificate Course in Adolescent Health

2-3 March, 2012
Bhopal

Adolescents represent one-fourth of India. An apparently healthy group, adolescents face a number of physical, mental, sexual, economic and social challenges. Adolescence is a critical period of development in a person's life with dramatic physical and emotional changes. How we take care of adolescents will determine India's future health. With this consideration, Adolescent Reproductive and Sexual Health strategy under RCH-II/NRHM focuses on Public Health to meet the health service needs of adolescents.

It's a vital component and means to meet the health goals.
